

International Education Management (INEMA)

Ludwigsburg University of Education –
Helwan University Cairo

Course concept

A high level of education is one of the preconditions for development. INEMA provides its participants with expertise in education management to raise the quality of education in developing countries. As a part-time blended learning programme, INEMA allows current and prospective managers in the education system to remain in their professional positions while acquiring the skills to develop and implement ideas for future-oriented education reforms and effective administrative structures.

Course content

- Modules in education management, political and socio-cultural subjects
- Taught via both e-learning and class/seminar attendance (8 phases, each lasting 10 days)
- Strong focus on the transfer of experiences procured by students' exchange, best practice studies, internships and project work
- Professional coaching for personality development, project management and career guidance

Perspectives

- Career opportunities in international cooperation and development assistance
- Leadership positions in the public and private education sector
- Become part of a German-Arab network of excellence on INEMA
